COLD CHAIN FEDERATION EVENTS IN 2022

JANE JONES, COLD CHAIN FEDERATION MARKETING & EVENTS MANAGER:

"Our industry is built on relationships. The Cold Chain Federation organises a busy programme of events throughout the year so that our members, customers and partners can get together to discuss the key industry issues of today and tomorrow, learn about the latest technologies and innovations, reinforce working relationships and just enjoy spending time together."

"With Covid-19 disruption making in person events impossible or uncertain over the past two years, we dramatically expanded our online events offering and the response from federation members has been fantastic."

"When we asked recently about event preferences going forward, our members told us that they would value the return of in person events, particularly for building relationships, but would not lose the efficiency, flexibility and regularity of the expanded online events programme."

"We're pleased to say that our programme for 2022 reflects this feedback. We have arranged a range of exciting new events as well as bringing back old favourites, both in person and online. Here are some of the highlights, look out for your favourites, for more details throughout the year."
